

COST & ADMISSION

What it costs, in plain numbers.

Rates are per person and set per house — some weekly, some every two weeks, some monthly.

We'll post the exact rate the moment our first house opens. Call in the meantime and we'll tell you what we're planning — including what's included and what isn't.

Insurance, honestly. Sober living is housing, not clinical treatment, so insurance usually doesn't pay for it. It can cover the clinical care you receive while living here — and we'll help you line that up.

HOW TO GET A BED

Five minutes, twelve questions.

TODAY

We call or text you back and ask a few follow-up questions.

WITHIN A DAY

A short phone interview — mostly us listening — and a straight answer on availability.

MOVE-IN

Usually within 48 hours of approval. Bring clothes, medication and ID. We'll cover the rest on day one.

Nothing here is a commitment. It starts a conversation. You can apply for yourself or for someone else, and we never share your information with treatment centers or marketers.

Let's find you a bed.

If it's easier to just call, call. A person picks up.

What the next ninety days actually look like

Nobody hands you a brochure and wishes you luck. Here is the real shape of it.

1 You reach out

A phone call, or the form on our website. We answer, we ask a few questions, and we tell you straight whether we have a bed and whether we're the right fit. If we're not, we'll tell you who is.

2 You move in

Usually within 48 hours. You get a bed, a key, a drawer, and a house that already knows your name. First week you're just finding the coffee.

3 You find footing

Weekly house meeting, daily check-in, a curfew that loosens as you earn it. We help you get to work, to meetings, to court if that's where you need to be.

4 You go the distance

Most people stay six to nine months. Some become house leaders. Some move out and come back for Sunday dinner. The door doesn't close behind you.

WHY WE STARTED

Recovery is about more than staying sober — it's about building a meaningful life. We wanted a home where men and women find structure, accountability, community and the support to confidently move forward.

Find your Direction. Build your Future.

A house, not a facility.

Small on purpose

Six to ten residents per house. Big enough for a real community, small enough that your absence is noticed the same day.

Structure you can feel

Curfew, chores, house meetings and random testing. Not to punish — because the shape of a day is the thing most of us lost first.

Peer-led, not managed

House leaders are residents who've been where you are. Staff support the house; the house runs itself. That's the part that sticks.

Honest about money

One clear rate per house, posted publicly. No intake fee, no surprise charges. If you hit a rough patch, come talk to us before you disappear.

Dignity is not a reward. You don't earn respect by staying sober long enough. It's the starting condition, and it's not revocable.

We say the hard thing early. If a house isn't working for someone, we have that conversation while there's still time to fix it — not at the point of exit.

STANDARDS & ACCOUNTABILITY

TRON certification — in progress

Working toward certification with the Texas Recovery Oriented Housing Network, the state NARR affiliate. Not certified yet.

Fair housing

Recovery is protected under the Fair Housing Act and the ADA. We follow that in every admission.

A clear house agreement

Rate, rules, testing and guests in writing. You get your copy before you move in, not after.

Small enough to know everyone

Every resident is known by name by the people running the house.

What's included

- ✔ Your bed, furnished — shared or private, depending on the house
- ✔ All utilities — water, electric, gas, internet
- ✔ Household supplies and cleaning products
- ✔ Drug and alcohol testing
- ✔ House meetings and peer support
- ✔ Help getting to work, meetings and appointments

What's not

- ❌ Groceries and personal food
- ❌ Personal toiletries
- ❌ Phone, transportation and personal expenses
- ❌ Clinical treatment, therapy or medication — we help you connect to these, we don't provide them

STRAIGHT ANSWERS

Questions people actually ask

How fast can I move in?

Often within 48 hours if a bed is open. If not, we'll tell you where you sit on the waitlist — and give you a real estimate, not a maybe.

Do I have to be detoxed first?

Yes. You need to be medically stable and past withdrawal. If you're not there yet, call anyway and we'll help you find a program.

Can I keep my job?

You're expected to. Work, school or structured volunteering is part of the program.

Are you a men's or women's house?

Both, in separate houses. TrueNorth does not operate co-ed residences.

Is my information private?

Yes. We don't confirm anyone lives here without their written permission — including to family.
